MacGregor and MacDuff have been involved in Highland Wear for 25 years. All of our kilts are made from either a 13 oz medium weight or 16 oz heavy weight worsted cloth, which enables the pleats to stay as sharp as possible and ensures the kilt has a full "swing". Every kilt is made with 8 yards of material and traditionally hand sewn by our own, fully qualified kilt makers, who have many years of experience. Most of our kilts are pleated to "sett", which means that the pattern of the kilt is repeated at the back to mirror the front. Some of our tartans are however pleated to strip where a predominant stripe is chosen to run down each pleat.

We have used the same type and make of jackets both for sale and hire for the last 25 years, as it is one of undisputed quality. Alternatively, more modern styles are available to our customers if they feel that they would like a change from the traditional outfits.

The staff at MacGregor and MacDuff are extremely knowledgeable and friendly, specially trained and with a genuine interest in our customers and the outfits they hire or buy. With over 40 tartans to hire and thousands of tartans available for our kilt makers to create handmade kilts, we pride ourselves on real, quality outfits at exceptional rates.
